

WHEN TEMPORARY LAY-OFF BEGINS

 1. Register yourself with the TE Office as an unemployed job seeker no later than on your first lay-off day

 You can also register yourself as an unemployed jobseeker if you have already received a notification of temporary lay-off. The registration can be done electronically via TE Office's online service (requires bank codes). Remember to keep yourself registered as an unemployed jobseeker with the TE Office.

 2. Fill in application for daily allowance to unemployment fund

 Fill in the application carefully and end the period to Sunday, if you apply for the daily allowance for two or four calendar weeks. If you are laid-off for one day at a week, you can for instance fill in the application for six weeks in order to fulfil the waiting period of five days and to receive daily allowance for one day.

 If you receive income from entrepreneurship, work part-time or casually, contact the unemployment fund's customer service to determine the application period.

 3. Check necessary attachments for daily allowance application

Enclose to your application at least pay certificate and notification of temporary lay-off. If you are part-time entrepreneur, receive other social benefits, or temporary lay-off is carried out as shortened workday or if you work for another employer than your own, send necessary documents to the unemployment fund (check next page, "Attachments").

4. Send application to unemployment fund after application period has ended

Send the application and attachments via unemployment fund's eService, www.teollisuuskassa.fi/en/ >> eService. Paper application can be sent to: Teollisuuden työttömyyskassa, P.B. 116, 00531 Helsinki.

Applications sent via eService are immediately at unemployment fund's disposal.

5. Submit necessary information and missing attachments if requested

Unemployment fund processes your application and contacts you, if something is missing from your application. Inform the unemployment fund if any changes occur that may affect your entitlement to receive daily allowance. Remember to keep your personal contact information up-to-date.

Contact the unemployment fund in exceptional cases!
